100 PERCENT OF VETERINARY TECHNICIAN GRADUATES PASS LICENSURE EXAM

NEOSHO, MO – The 2011 graduates from the Veterinary Technician program at Crowder College ALL passed the American Veterinary Medical Association licensure exam. Students must take the examination at a testing center to be licensed to practice as a Veterinary Technician.

“The demand for good Veterinary Technicians is high” stated Veterinary Technology Director/Instructor, Dr. Stephanie Watson-Bruto. Watson attributes the 100% pass rate to the rigorous coursework that has been included in the program. “We have an application process that helps to find the students who are serious about the program. Once they are in the program we work diligently with the students to make sure they are getting what they need to succeed.”

Students interested in the program should visit our website or contact Dr. Watson-Bruto at (417)455-5772 or e-mail: stephaniewatson@crowder.edu
