Crowder College Technical Education Center Students Receive Scholarships

Neosho, MO – Four high school students enrolled in Crowder College Technical Education Center (CCTEC) programs were awarded Director's Scholarships to pursue their college education.

Recipients from CCTEC include Herlinda Casique and Stacia Baker, both from Neosho High School. They are students in the Child Development Program. Pa Chai Thao (Neosho High School) and Karla Condrey (McDonald County High School) are enrolled in the Health Science Program.

Students compete with area technical programs for the scholarships. Other technical schools include Franklin Tech, Lamar Tech, Nevada Regional Tech and Southwest Area Career Center of Monett. A total of sixteen students were awarded scholarships this year.

The scholarships are for two years and are renewable each semester if the student maintains a 3.0 grade point average.
