FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Crowder College

Neosho, MO - Crowder College is offering classes in the Fall semester at various locations throughout its service area including Greenfield, Monett and McDonald County.

The community of Greenfield was looking for a partner in higher education to bring courses to area residents. This fall Crowder will have twelve classes available in the evening at Greenfield High School including Business Computer Application, English, History, Math and Psychology. A student could take evening and online classes to obtain full-time status, allowing the opportunity to receive financial aid, such as Pell grants or A+ while working on their associate degree. "Transferability to a four-year institution with a degree from Crowder College can be a seamless process, so getting their first two years at Crowder would be an advantage to anyone in the area. We want to assist the area in any higher education opportunities we possibly can and offering classes in Greenfield is a start." stated Jim Riggs, Director of Admissions.

Crowder is offering on-site enrollment advising on Thursday evenings from 4:00-7:00 p.m. at the Greenfield High School Library. Students are also encouraged to visit any other Crowder College campus or go online at: www.crowder.edu and click the Admissions tab to get started.
