COLLEGE

Associate of Applied Science

CERTIFIED MEDICAL ASSISTANT

The medical profession is rapidly changing, and with these changes come the need for highly skilled support personnel. Medical Assisting has become one of the fastest growing careers in healthcare. The Certified Medical Assisting Associate of Applied Science degree prepares students for employment as a Certified Medical Assistant.

Certified Medical Assistants work in physicians' offices, clinics, hospitals, or other healthcare facilities. They perform physician support services that help ensure medical facilities run smoothly. Some of these duties include scheduling appointments, answering telephones, billing insurance companies, preparing treatment rooms for patient examinations, recording medical information and test results, conducting patient interviews, taking and recording vital signs, collecting specimens, and administering medication under physician supervision.

At the completion of the program, the student will register for the Certified Medical Assistant National Exam.
